EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria (GFATM) is one of the most important institutions in the response to the three diseases. As a funding mechanism, GFATM pools funds from international donors and then makes grants to low and middle-income countries for health services and systems.

Community participation in the GFATM is integral to its success. The GFATM has a number of opportunities for people affected by the three diseases to participate in shaping where and how funds are delivered. A critical feature of this involvement is community representation on the Country Coordinating Mechanism (CCM), which is a national committee that submits funding applications to the Global Fund on behalf of the entire country. Representatives of people living with HIV (PLHIV) play a vital role on CCMs and need support to ensure their participation benefits the broader community.

This handbook aims to facilitate the active involvement of PLHIV in the GFATM CCM. It outlines basic values and principles, providing practical information and tools which can be adapted to national contexts. It stresses the ongoing importance of PLHIV-led communication, coordination and consultation, so that people most affected by the three diseases can continually make their voices heard and weigh in on important issues.

The ultimate goal of PLHIV representation on CCMs is to ensure that GFATM financed programs are efficient, impactful and sustainable.
A. BACKGROUND

The Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria (GFATM) is a funding mechanism that supports countries in the response to the three diseases. GFATM focuses its resources primarily on low-income countries. Since it was established in 2002 to achieve the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) Goal #6, the GFATM has disbursed more than USD 18.5 billion to 150 nations across the world to help countries prevent and treat HIV, TB and malaria. GFATM grants support activities such as outreach to key populations, condom and sterile needle procurements, increased facilities for HIV testing, ARV disbursements, opportunistic infection drugs procurement, sexually transmitted infection management and other supportive services depending on the country’s needs.

GFATM was developed as an international financing institution built on a public-private partnership, with funds from developed country donors such as the U.S., Great Britain, Germany, France, Japan in collaboration with private donors, like the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and multinational corporations, such as Microsoft and Chevron. To access Global Fund monies, countries apply for grants by submitting a country-wide proposal. The strategic direction of the organization is managed by the Global Fund Board, which consists of representatives from:

- International development agencies
- Implementing country governments
- The private sector
- Civil society and communities affected by the three diseases
- Donor governments

The Board meets periodically to agree on Global Fund management strategic decisions, and is responsible for electing the Fund’s Executive Director. The Secretariat of the Global Fund is located in Geneva, Switzerland. The Global Fund does not have offices in countries; management of GFATM activities is carried out by an independent committee established by the countries themselves, through a process called the Country Coordinating Mechanism.

What is the CCM?

The Country Coordinating Mechanism (CCM) is a forum or committee formed by each country to facilitate the coordination of the Fund’s grant cycle. The Committee is independent and multi-sectoral, which means that it is comprised of a variety of sectors related to the response to the epidemics; for example, government agencies, civil society, private company entities and international development agencies.

What are the tasks of the CCM?

1. Coordinates the design of the country proposal.
2. Submits the country proposal to the GFATM Secretariat.
3. Nominates and selects the organizations or agencies to act as Principal Recipient (PR) for the grant.
4. Submit a grant’s funding extension or reprogramming.
5. Harmonizes and coordinates the AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria programs funded by other resources in the country.

How are CCM members selected?

The members of the CCM are selected or appointed by their own agencies and through their own individual processes. The selected members sit on the CCM for a period of two years (except in India, where the CCM tenure is now three years). The selection of representatives in each sector must be organized in a transparent, accountable and well-documented manner. The results of the different processes are then reported to the CCM Secretariat, along with supporting documentation of the selection process (i.e. meeting minutes, list of participants, etc.).

Case Study

Indonesia’s CCM was founded in 2002 at the time of the country’s first successful Global Fund proposal. A group comprised of 25 people were selected for the CCM, representing each of the following agencies and ministries:

- 10 government ministries (including two from the Ministry of Health (one person from the Bureau of Planning and Budgeting with another person from the Medical Services Directorate General); Coordinating Ministry of Social Welfare; Ministry of Finance; Ministry of Home Affairs; Ministry of Foreign Affairs; State Secretary; Planning National Agency; National AIDS Commission and the Ministry of Labour.
- 10 civil society and private sector representatives (from faith based organizations, NGOs providing TB, malaria and HIV services, academics, PLHIV network representatives, TB patient representatives and the private sector).
- 5 representatives of international development agencies and UN partners (including UNAIDS, WHO, USAID, AUSAID and the European Commission).

Why should affected communities be involved?

Communities have always played a vital role in responding to the AIDS, TB and malaria epidemics. The Global Fund has been at the forefront of the movement to provide more systematic support for community engagement, which is essential for enabling a long-term effective response to these epidemics. The involvement of affected communities also ensures the long-term sustainability of GFATM investments and ensures that the principle of protecting and enhancing human rights remains at the centre of the response.

B. OBJECTIVES

This handbook aims to act as a technical reference to support the active involvement of PLHIV in the GFATM CCM. Specifically, the handbook aims to:

1. Increase understanding of the mechanisms of PLHIV community’s involvement GFATM funding.
2. Explain the division of roles and tasks in the PLHIV community related to the involvement in the designing and implementation of GFATM grants.
3. Support the engagement of communities in country dialogues and support their efforts to provide oversight through monitoring in-country grant performance.
4. Improve the quality of life of people living with HIV through organizing their HIV response on the local and national levels.

This handbook was developed through a process that actively engaged communities affected by HIV.

C. RATIONALE

There is an urgent need for guidelines that advise PLHIV and key population (KP) communities for active and effective involvement in GFATM decision-making. This toolkit builds on previous country-based experiences and guidelines that have been published. It is critically important that communities affected by HIV, TB and malaria are actively involved at all levels of GFATM strategy, and this involvement must be facilitated in a standardized manner, sensitive to local contexts. This handbook outlines basic values and principles which are needed to create an ethical, transparent and strategic approach for the involvement of PLHIV in Global Fund decision-making processes, ensuring that the projects implemented by GFATM are efficient, impactful and sustainable.

Important Note:

The principles, values and guidance provided in this document are meant to be a helpful guide and are by no means mandatory to follow by communities organizing themselves at the local level. Communities are welcome to set their own values and principles for their involvement in the Global Fund, based on local context, social norms, cultures, politics and economic situations.

This toolkit is meant as a reference for local communities; it is a living and dynamic document that will evolve as needed by communities at the local, regional and global levels.
GFATM CCMs must include one PLHIV representative and one alternate; PLHIV have one voting seat. Both of these representatives have the same rights and obligations as other CCM members from various sectors including government, civil society and international development agencies.

A. PRINCIPLES AND VALUES
The following principles and values guide the involvement of PLHIV on the GFATM CCM:

1. Representativeness
2. Transparency
3. Accountability
4. Collective interest
5. Anti-corruption
6. Independency
7. Commitment
8. Togetherness

B. CRITERIA
Representatives of people living with HIV have a mandate to accommodate the aspirations of their constituents at CCM GFATM forums. The following guidelines provide general criteria for the selection of a member and alternate member of the CCM representing PLHIV.

1. The CCM candidate should be a person living with HIV/AIDS that has been involved in the HIV response for at least 3 years;
2. The candidates should commit to allocate time to carry out all duties and responsibilities as a member of the CCM and represent PLHIV;
3. The candidate should understand the scope of funding related to the Global Fund;
4. The candidate should have strong communication skills, especially in conducting negotiations and diplomacy in official forums;
5. The candidate should have excellent proficiency in English, both oral and written.

C. TASKS AND RESPONSIBILITIES
The tenure of a PLHIV representative at the CCM varies, and depends on the local CCM Governance Manual. However, on average, the term should be for at least two or three years, during which the representatives’ tasks are to work strategically for the interest of PLHIV, in coordination and consultation with their constituents, to ensure that PLHIV interests are incorporated in the implementation of GFATM financed programs.

The overall responsibilities of the PLHIV representative at the CCM are:

1. To actively participate in CCM and related meetings, representing PLHIV interests.
2. To regularly communicate, coordinate and consult with PLHIV communities concerning the implementation of program activities supported by GFATM. Consultations should take place in accordance with CCM GFATM procedures.
3. To regularly update and inform their constituents of all CCM GFATM activities by circulating CCM meeting notes.
4. To respond to questions or requests for clarification and information from constituents in an efficient and prompt manner.
5. To actively participate in monitoring funded activities and providing feedback to the CCM.

The PLHIV representative has the following obligations during their tenure:

1. Approve/vote during CCM decision-making forums (based on prior consultation with constituents, ensuring that any decision on behalf of PLHIV at the CCM forum is based on community consensus).

2. If necessary, refuse to agree on an issue during the CCM decision-making forum, as per the results of consultations with constituents.

3. Obtain information regarding program implementation from communities in the field in order to identify any abuses or challenges and bring them to the CCM’s attention, and to facilitate and follow-up on requests for clarification, case finding or other information from constituents pertaining to the implementation of field activities supported by GFATM grants.

4. Get support and technical assistance (as needed) to ensure effective participation, including the mobilization of resources from a Technical Committee consisting of representatives of groups/organizations/community-based networks affected by HIV.

5. In accordance with the Global Fund Guidelines and Requirements for CCM’s management of conflict of interests, to publicly declare in writing any potential conflict of interest, both personal and institutional, during their tenure.

6. To facilitate the planning of a selection process in the last quarter of their tenure for a new PLHIV representatives at the CCM.

D. CONFLICT OF INTEREST

As mentioned above, any CCM representative must openly declare in written form any potential conflict of interest, either from individual and institutional interests, prior to beginning a CCM tenure. Please consult the GF CCM Guidelines and Requirements document for further information.
A. SELECTION MECHANISM

The selection process for new CCM civil society candidates normally takes place in the last quarter of the current seat holder’s tenure. There are four phases to this process:

1. Preparation phase
   The current representatives of people living with HIV at the GFATM CCM should facilitate the creation of an ad-hoc team to organize the selection phases for the new candidate. The selection process will observe the principles of inclusivity, transparency and accountability. This ad-hoc team will design a selection plan which includes the following aspects:

   - Selection process timeframe
   - Selection method
   - Selection panel
   - Dissemination of the selection process

2. Dissemination of information regarding the selection process
   It is important that information about the selection process is publicly disseminated at all stages, so that the process is transparent. Information should be distributed through relevant communication channels (e.g. mailing lists, websites, CSOs, social media) to all constituents, as well as an announcement when the selection process has concluded.

3. Selection phase
   There are two stages to the selection phase: (i) a preliminary selection of the top five candidates, based on the predetermined selection criteria; and (ii) an in-depth review of the top candidates, based on the ad-hoc team’s recommended procedure. The selected candidate will be the PLHIV representative at the GFATM CCM for the following 2-3 year period, and the new representative will be publicly announced to constituents, GFATM CCM Secretariat and partners.

4. Transition phase
   During the transition stage, the current CCM PLHIV representative should provide a brief orientation and discuss ongoing work that needs to be continued. This stage requires the support and assistance of the broader PLHIV and GFATM community.

Graph 1. Steps in selecting a PLHIV representative on the CCM
B. SELECTION PANEL
The Selection Committee (ad-hoc team) will set up a Selection Panel to carry out the selection process. This Panel should consist of people with expertise in relevant topics such as GFATM program management; human rights and gender; advocacy; and others. It should also include representatives of PLHIV organizations or key population based organizations. The Selection Panel is an independent entity; members of this panel should not be influenced by any outside party.

C. SELECTION METHOD
The selection method for a PLHIV representative is determined by the selection committee. The most common method used is a structured interview by a panel, discussing topics related to the applicant’s capacity to carry out the duties and responsibilities as a CCM member.
CHAPTER IV. COMMUNITY COMMUNICATION, COORDINATION AND CONSULTATION MECHANISMS

Once a PLHIV representative assumes a role on the CCM, it is essential to communicate, coordinate and consult with PLHIV constituents at all stages, so that the CCM representative has a broad base of support and also understands the needs on the ground. Communication, coordination and consultation mechanisms should be institutionalised so that they are effective. This section provides a broad overview of these three aspects of a representative’s role as well as some tips.

Communication reflects the ability to convey or transfer information from one place or person to another, using various means. This includes speaking, writing or using some other medium; it can be face-to-face or online.

To ensure that community groups are given a level playing field to participate in GFATM processes, they must be up to date on GFATM issues and developments. PLHIV representatives should also be able to make informed-based decisions based on relevant reports from the ground, to ensure that the rights and needs of their constituents are fulfilled.

Coordination refers to the synchronization and integration of activities and responsibilities from across the CCM member role, so that all parties cooperate effectively.

These coordination and communication functions take place at least once a month through meetings between the CCM and the Technical Committee. Further dissemination of updates and progress to constituents will be followed up by the Technical Committee members’ networks through various channels such as:

- Social Media → Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, etc.
- Other official media channels

In addition, conventional meeting forums may take place for consultation and strategic decision making. These face to face meetings may take place at least once every six months.

Consultation typically involves exchanging (and sometimes negotiating) different points of view from different parties to reach an agreement. It is an important phase in the context of managing an organization, especially for Global Fund financed programs, where beneficiaries are often marginalized and/or minorities in their own society, such as people who use drugs, MSM, transgender people, sex workers and people living with HIV or TB. Consultation processes provide these groups with the ability to influence program development and implementation, in order to ensure that programs are actually benefiting and fulfilling their specific needs.

For the PLHIV CCM representative, it is important that ongoing consultation occurs across geographic areas and with all the different groups affected by HIV (PWID, SW, MSM/TGs, women, children, etc.). The PLHIV representative should consult with communities prior to important GFATM decision-making, including:

1. Approval of GFATM country proposal
2. Election of a Principal Recipient (PR)
3. Submission of reprogramming and funding allocations
4. Decisions that impact directly the lives of people living with HIV
Case Study

In Pakistan, the CCM has been functioning since early 2000. In the beginning, the HIV community had a presence at the CCM forum, but it was a largely tokenistic presence. At that time, the country’s PLHIV network, the APLHIV (Association of People Living with HIV) had a leading role in advocating for a CCM PLHIV representative, but the process was not institutionalized due to a lack of leadership and network capacity issues.

It was only in December 2014, following the restructuring of the APLHIV in 2012, that a formal election process resulted in a new PLHIV CCM member. This process resulted in a much stronger PLHIV voice on the CCM. Some of their successes include but are not limited to:

1. Reported drug stock-outs and supported the CCM to address this issue, leading to prevention of future stock-outs
2. Influence over the selection of the PR – for example, UNDP was not selected as a Co-PR due to concerns from the PLHIV Community CCM member.
3. The issues at Hayat Medical Complex HIV treatment center were resolved.
4. M & E visits by the NACP (National AIDS Coordination Program) are a regular feature now.
Information dissemination is key for a participatory and accountable process. It includes sharing information among constituents on:

1. Program performance and grant utilization
2. Program management
3. Service access and availability
4. CCM policies

This information can be sourced from in-person participation in the CCM and from CCM Dashboard meeting records (such as meeting minutes). It is important to share well-organized and clear documents that are easy to understand by communities, and to avoid any terms that are too technical. A narrative report prepared by PLHIV members post CCM meeting could include:

- Summary of activities carried by PLHIV representatives in CCM forums
- Recent developments/dynamics within CCM
- Proposed priority issues to be carried out based on field reports, identified for the upcoming three months.

Meanwhile the information distributed by constituents to their representatives at the CCM are:
• Situation of HIV / AIDS services in the field
• Program implementation progress and issues
• Any noted abuse of human rights suffered by communities affected by HIV

A. MONITORING AND EVALUATION

It is important to have a strong monitoring and evaluation (M&E) process to ensure that the PLHIV CCM member’s involvement is improving GFATM mechanisms. M & E activities should take place on a regular basis, with a six-month interim evaluation and an evaluation at the end of each year, based on available resources. PLHIV representatives at the CCM and the Technical Committee will be responsible for organizing the M & E processes with reference to key indicators that have been mutually developed and agreed upon. Below are some sample indicators that you can adapt to your context.

This toolkit provides the necessary steps towards ensuring GFATM’s CCMs have the strong and active engagement of the PLHIV community. Evidence demonstrates that the active engagement of PLHIV in programs, policies and funding mechanisms leads to an improved HIV response. PLHIV are in a unique position to ensure that programs protect their human rights and the rights of others affected by HIV, TB and Malaria.
Dear friends,

Thank you for taking your time to complete this survey.

This community-based survey reflects the state of PLHIV activism in increasing the quality of HIV and AIDS programs in (country name) with regards to the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, TB and Malaria. Survey respondents should only complete this form on a voluntary basis and without any form of coercion.

In particular, this survey aims to:

1. Collect feedback from PLHIV on how the GFATM coordination process and consultation between CCM representatives and the community works
2. Collect feedback regarding the role of PLHIV representatives on the CCM

PLHIV from different backgrounds should be encouraged to complete this survey to ensure it is representative, including those from different socio-economic backgrounds, regions, gender, sex, and sexual orientations.

The results of this survey will help build a collective agreement on how the mechanism of involvement of PLHIV through its representatives in the CCM will work in the future.

Again, we would like to acknowledge your participation and look forward to your active role in increasing the quality of services and programmes for PLHIV.

Thank you
PLHIV Representative Selection Preparation Team

ANNEX 2. ANNOUNCEMENT OF APPLICATION PROCESS TO REPRESENT PLHIV AT THE GFATM CCM

VACANCY: MEMBER OF THE GFATM CCM TO REPRESENT THE PLHIV COMMUNITY

The Global Fund is an innovative financing institution that relies on collaboration between governments, civil society, the private sector and people affected by HIV/AIDS, malaria and TB to fund national responses to the three diseases. The Global Fund’s principles are: partnership, country ownership, performance-based funding, and transparency.2

The GFATM Country Coordination Mechanism (CCM) is a multi-sectoral committee facilitating every phase of the financing cycle of GF grants at country-level. Most country-based CCMs consist of an agreed number of Government Ministries and private sector and contributing countries or donor countries as well as various elements from civil society, including people with HIV / AIDS (PLHIV). Participation in CCM membership is voluntary and does not provide any compensation for members. The representative at the CCM will actively participate in the formulation of policies and AIDS prevention strategies in each country, from the planning phase of the national program to monitoring implementation of the program activities, with strong cooperation with the GF Secretariat Country Team in Geneva, Switzerland.
